

Cotton Pickin' Celebration

October 23 & 24, 2010

LOCATION

The Cotton Pickin' Celebration is held at the Old Baker Farm, 1041 Farmingdale Road, Harpersville, Alabama. The farm is located approximately 25 minutes from Birmingham.

SITE

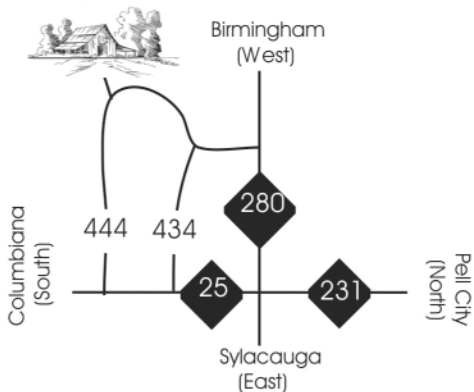

The annual Cotton Pickin' Celebration is a festival held on the grounds of the Old Baker Farm, homesteaded over 200 years ago. Festival guests enjoy two days of activities, including hayrides, live music, staged shootouts, Civil War reenactment, Indian festivities, and much more. This festival is visited by many guests each year as its popularity grows.

BOOTHS

The Cotton Pickin' Celebration offers sites up to 20'x10'. If additional space is required, please call for cost and availability.

FEES

Fee per site is $50.00. Submit fee with application by September 1, 2010. Due to the overwhelming popularity of this festival and the growing number of vendors, it is suggested that you submit your application and fees as soon as possible for processing. You will be notified of acceptance. Once accepted, your name will be entered along with other Arts & Crafts vendors for a Cash Drawing to be awarded on Sunday of the festival. Fees are non-refundable. There are no jurying or commission fees.
